

MULTIFAMILY MARKET OVERVIEW

JONATHON HARRISS, Broker

Durham saw a substantial increase in 12-month absorption as well as an increased vacancy rate in Q2 2023. This surge in absorption indicates growing demand for multifamily housing, however, increased vacancy suggests the market is not efficiently absorbing new deliveries. The asking rent per unit followed a similar pattern as in Raleigh, rising from $1,514.31 to $1,538.48, indicating that landlords were able to command slightly higher rents. The number of under construction units in Durham also increased from 5,234 to 5,492, showcasing ongoing development activity.
