

MULTIFAMILY MARKET OVERVIEW

RYAN ABEL, Vice President

Q42023 continued the trend with low sale volume, lower net absorption and vacancy rates hovering around 6%. Rents have stayed steady and varied very little from the overall average of the past 3 quarters. The largest activity as of last quarter was the purchase of troubled multifamily loans by Brookfield and Ballast from Veritas totaling over 2,000 units and 76 buildings. This is a continuation of Veritas downsizing their portfolio, positioning Brookfield to foreclose on the loan if they so choose. Given the correction in the marketplace for 2023, we do expect volume of transactions to increase in the coming year. Given the new state mandates to streamline construction, we should see an increase in new units to meet demand that hasn't really wavered in the difficult financial climate.
